Conical colander 35 centimeter aluminum

The conical colander by Pujadas is a versatile, reliable choice. It's made of aluminum, so it's strong and lightweight, which makes it perfect for tasks like straining pasta, washing vegetables and transporting food items around the kitchen. The perforations are evenly spaced, allowing water or other liquids to drain away quickly, and their small size is ideal for food items like rice or orzo. The two loop handles offer a comfortable grip, and the sturdy base ensures stability. Popular with catering operations, restaurants, institutions and more, this conical colander promises an exceptional performance.
